

LunaJets Bolsters its Management Team

EBACE 2024 - LunaJets, the European leader in private jet charter, is delighted to announce the upgrade of its organisation by nominating the following directors to Group-level responsibilities to further grow, expand, and gain market share.

Introducing The Senior LunaJets Management Team

"I am pleased to introduce the talented individuals in our Group management team."

- Eymeric Segard, CEO and Founder

Guillaume Launay is promoted to Group Managing Director. Guillaume, 33, will oversee all global operations from the Geneva headquarters. He joined LunaJets eight years ago as a Junior Sales after graduating from EHL (Ecole Hôtelière de Lausanne). His dedication, professionalism, and relentless drive have enabled him to rise through the ranks and achieve this significant internal success.

Eriks Ziverts will take on the role of Global Head of Sales for LunaJets, covering the 8 offices worldwide in addition to his duties as Managing Director of the Riga Office. Eriks, 28, started at LunaJets six years ago as an intern after graduating from Coventry University with a degree in Aviation Management. His dynamic approach and market expertise allowed him to steadily advance in the company, leading to this remarkable achievement.

Augustin Annecca is now Head of Operator Relations with private jet and group charter operators, while continuing as Managing Director of LunaJets France. In just three years with LunaJets, after graduating from Les Roches Global Hospitality University, Augustin's passion for aviation has propelled him at 25, into strategic roles that demand comprehensive knowledge and mastery of all aspects.

Raphael Heydemann is appointed Head of Special Operations. With six years of dedicated service, exceptional crisis management skills, and extensive industry knowledge, Raphael, 31, based in Geneva, will oversee complex flight projects such as trans-continental, domestic Africa, South America, Middle East operations, and warzone flights and evacuations (Libya, Kabul, Tel Aviv, etc.). He joined LunaJets in 2018 after graduating from Les Roches Global Hospitality University.

Pierre Guillet is appointed Head of Business Development, based in the Paris office. With two years of experience managing key aspects of the Group's growth strategy, Pierre, 28, will now lead the team, focusing on customer retention and lead activation. He started his career in the concierge industry in Paris and Cape Town after graduating from EHL (Ecole Hôtelière de Lausanne).

Introducing The LunaGroup Charter and LunaSolutions Management Team

Remi Aubin, 38, will continue as Group Charter Director in Paris to further develop the group-charter offering. As one of the most experienced brokers for group-charters (19 passengers and more), his extensive market knowledge and unmatched expertise in the industry guarantee the ongoing expansion of LunaGroup Charter, promising a bright future in this fast-growing market.

Tomas Camprubi is the Managing Director of LunaJets UK in London and is responsible for the Sales and Acquisition unit, LunaSolutions. Tomas, 29, joined the group in 2021 from a high-end real estate private equity background, bringing extensive financial experience and relationships with UHNWIs.

Carlos Matallana joined LunaJets last year from Gestair, the largest private jet operator in Spain. Carlos, 41, is the Managing Director of LunaJets España in Madrid, and with his aircraft operations knowledge, he is also responsible for LunaSolutions, the Sales and Acquisition business unit of the Group.

The company is currently hiring in all locations for all business lines – private jet charter, group charter, cargo charter, and sales and acquisition.
